

BENEFITS INVESTIGATION

This resource is provided for informational purposes only. It is always the provider's responsibility to determine details specific to individual patients and to submit true and correct claims for the products and services rendered. Providers should contact third-party payers for specific information on their coding, coverage, payment policies, and fee schedules. Geron and its agents make no guarantee regarding reimbursement for any service or item. This resource is not intended as reimbursement advice, legal advice, medical advice, or a substitute for a provider's independent professional judgment.

The Importance of a Thorough and Complete Benefits Investigation

A benefits investigation is a crucial first step for determining a patient's coverage, helping to facilitate a patient's timely start to treatment. Completing a benefits investigation will help to identify the insurance plan's coverage details and coding requirements. For each patient, your office will need to determine how the patient's insurance plan covers the medication and the applicable IV administration CPT® codes.

Insurance plan coverage varies and can change over time, so it is important to determine the patient's coverage before each infusion. This is especially important if a medication is being administered at a different site of care for the first infusion.

HCPCS=Healthcare Common Procedure Coding System; ID=identification; NDC=National Drug Code; NPI=National Provider Identifier.

Part 2: Contact Insurance Plan to Verify Benefits

Consider following the 8-step process below to obtain comprehensive benefits information from your patient's insurance plan(s). Take notes during the conversation with the insurance plan for the patient's records.

Example Benefits Verification Process

If the patient has multiple insurance plans, repeat the 8-step process for each plan.

This process is provided for informational purposes only. It is always the provider's responsibility to determine details specific to individual patients and to submit true and correct claims for the products and services rendered. Providers should contact third-party payers for specific information on their coding, coverage, payment policies, and fee schedules. Consider Documenting Benefits in the Patient's Records

You may be communicating with your patient's insurance plan(s) several times during the benefits investigation.

Consider documenting each communication exchange your office has with your patient's insurance plan(s) and ensuring that notes are appropriately recorded in the patient's medical records.

- ☐ Date of communication
- ☐ Time of communication
- ☐ Person(s) you spoke with
- ☐ Contact information (direct phone line, email)
- ☐ Communication preference (fax, email)
- ☐ Reference number for call
- ☐ Summary of communication

Notes from the benefits investigation can be referred to throughout the billing and reimbursement process.
